Washington D.C. --- "With the beginning of a new year, and the start of the 96th Congress, I want to come back to the people of southern West Virginia for their comments and suggestion on the issues that are of importance to our region and State," said Fourth District Congressman Nick Rahall, (D-WV).

"Again, Fourth District Towne Hall Meetings in all eight counties of the District, and Open Office Hours in all four of my District Offices will take place over the next two weeks," Rahall went on to say.

In Huntington, Open Office hours will take place from 10 am to Noon on Thursday, January 4, in Rahall's Huntington Office in the Old Post Office Building.

At 7pm on January 4, a Towne Hall Meeting will be held in the District Court Room of the Old Post Office Building in Huntington.

"As in the past, I hope everyone will again use these gatherings to keep my contact with them, close and personal," Congressman Rahall concluded.
