Beckley, West Virginia --- Fourth District Congressman Nick J. Rahall, (D-WV), will take part in the Congressional Hearings on Veteran Health Care problems in Beckley on Wed. Jan. 11. The hearings will be headed up by Senator Jennings Randolph, (D-WV).

"Issues that face those brave men and women who fought for this country are of great importance to me," said Rahall. "We can never do enough for these fine Americans."

The hearings will be held at the Mining Enforcement Safety Academy in Beckley at 1pm.

Congressman Rahall observed that, "Raleigh County residents have a unique opportunity to express their views on veteran's issues to members of the Senate Veteran's Committee, and we all owe a great deal to Senator Randolph for bringing the Committee into this area of West Virginia."

"250,000 West Virginians who served in the Armed Forces will be helped by the decisions made by the Veteran's Committee, and both Senator Randolph and myself look forward to a good meeting to discuss veteran's issues," Rahall concluded.
