RAHALL NOMINATES EIGHT FROM CABELL AND WAYNE TO MILITARY ACADEMIES

Huntington, W.Va. - U.S. Rep. Nick Rahall today announced that he has nominated eight students from Cabell and Wayne Counties to the U.S. Service Academies. The students are now eligible to apply for admission to the military institutes.

"Only a select few of our nation's students are given the opportunity to apply for admission to our four military academies," Rahall stated. "These students have, through their hard work and dedication, shown the characteristics that could enable them to succeed at West Point, the Naval Academy, the Air Force Academy or the Merchant Marine Academy. They could certainly provide leadership for our nation well into the 21st century."

The following students have been nominated by Rahall to the academies listed following their name and hometown:

Brian Parker, Huntington (West Point)
Ashley M. Lockwood, Barboursville (West Point)
George Saunders, Huntington (Navy)
Paul Pennington, Lavalette (Air Force)
Eric Ritter, Barboursville (Air Force)
Jennifer Holley, Milton (Air Force, Navy and West Point)
Alan Skaggs, Milton (West Point and Navy)
