WILLIAMSBURG ELEMENTARY CAPTURES PRESIDENTIAL FITNESS AWARD

WASHINGTON, DC -- U.S. Rep. Nick J. Rahall (D-WV) announced today that Williamsburg Elementary School won a 1992-93 School Year State Physical Fitness Champion Award. The President's Council on Physical Fitness chose Williamsburg because of the students' outstanding performance on the President's Challenge, a battery of physical fitness tests.

"I commend these children for their accomplishments and their physical education instructors, principals, and parents for teaching and encouraging them," said Rahall. "These children should remind West Virginians of every age that physical activity and fitness play a critical role in preventing disease and promoting overall good health."

Dear Representative Rahall:

Enclosed for your information is a copy of the winners of the 1992-93 School Year State Physical Fitness Champion Award. The winners were determined by their performance on the President's Challenge, a five-item physical fitness test battery. The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports (PCPFS), the principals and physical education instructors are proud of the students' accomplishments. The Governors and Superintendents of Schools in each state have also received this information.

The physical fitness accomplishments of these children attest to the potential fitness levels that all children can develop through physical education programs in our schools. They are helping the nation focus on physical activity and fitness, a priority area for achieving Healthy People 2000 goals and objectives.

We want everyone on the PCPFS Team to promote Physical Fitness for All — all kids and all adults, including senior citizens. We want you on the PCPFS Team also, because we know that Congress is vitally interested in the health of the citizens of the nation. With health care reform a major issue, it is essential to recognize physical fitness as a critical component in disease prevention and health promotion.

For further information about PCPFS programs, please contact Christine Spain at (202) 272-3424.

Best wishes for the Holiday season.

Sincerely,

Sandra Perlmutter
Executive Director Designee
