WASHINGTON, DC -- A barrage of college students, bearing shiny new identification cards, spanking clean suits, and a world of theories and convictions have ascended onto Capitol Hill and various District Offices. Better known as Congressional summer interns, these college students will spend a predetermined amount of their summer vacation serving the people of West Virginia.

Rep. Nick J. Rahall, (D-WV), has enlisted a total of 6 hard working West Virginians to serve summer internships in his Washington, DC and Huntington, WV offices. For the Huntington district office, the interns selected were Mr. David Midkiff, of Huntington, WV, attending Miami University; Ms. Rebecca Bartholemew, of Milton, WV, who is attending Randolph-Macon Women's College; and Ms. Linda Roberts, of Huntington, WV, who will be attending the University of Kentucky.

In the Washington, DC office, three interns are rotating throughout these few summer months. They are as follows: Ms. Maria Tamayo, of Beckley, WV, who is a student of Marshall University; Ms. Cynthia Montgomery, of Keystone, WV, who is attending Georgetown University; and Mr. Dan Maguire, of Huntington, WV, another student of Miami University.
